

ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT SEDATION

Conscious sedation is a pleasant relaxing way to have your dental treatment.

Conscious sedation is the injection of a sedative drug into the blood system. It is predictable very safe and allows nervous patients to become relaxed.

Most patients can remember little or nothing of the procedure, but it will not affect any part of your memory before the drug is given.

Conscious sedation is a very powerful and safe way of reducing anxiety to allow treatment to be carried out and for providing comfortable treatment during difficult or prolonged dentistry.

Who will sedate me?

A dentist specially trained in conscious sedation will sedate you. A nurse who has also received specific training will assist the dentist.

How is it given?

The drug is administered by a small injection into the crook of the arm or the back of the hand. This is usually quite painless.

Whom is sedation suitable for?

Sedation is suitable for very nervous patients.

Who is not suitable for sedation?

- Intravenous Drug Users
- Alcoholics
- People with unstable heart conditions
- Pregnant ladies
- Children under 16 years
- Very overweight people

Is it safe?

Yes, sedation is a much safer alternative to a General Anaesthetic. General Anaesthetics are no longer offered for routine dental treatment.

ASSESSMENT VISIT

- You will be asked to attend the practice for an assessment for sedation.
- At this visit, it is important to inform your dentist of any changes to your medical history or prescribed medication.
- You will have your blood pressure checked.
